Description

Very beautiful bar in Chinese lacquer and application of hard stones. Our cabinet has multiple compartments accessible by opening six doors, a flap and a lid. On the sides, two doors release a space equipped with two shelves, this space allows the storage of bottles in the lower part and glasses in the upper part. The two corners are rounded and equipped with two doors revealing a clever system for hanging a few glasses by the pid. On the front, the lower part opens with two leaves releasing a drawer in height. This part allows the storage of many bottles. A flap maintained by two compasses and equipped with a mirror bottom gives us access to the presentation part of the bar. A second mirror surmounted by a rack makes it possible to position glasses. At the back, a carved and openwork wooden wall hides a deep locker and also allows you to store other bottles. Above, two tilting trays make it possible to enlarge the utility space of this bar. All the doors, the flap and the inside of the lid represent scenes of life and traditional landscapes of China. Made in Chinese lacquer on an essentially black background and enhanced with gold, each character is entirely handmade in hard stones of different colors by hand and giving an incomparable relief.

Exceptional work carried out in the 1950s.
