Description

A truer-than-life expression for this fisherman at rest in this oil on canvas by Marseille artist Marius Barthalot. The work in excellent condition is offered in a beautiful 19th century gilt frame which measures 64 cm by 54.5 cm and 41 cm by 32.5 cm for the canvas alone. It represents a fisherman seated with a pipe and a glass in his hand in a sober and discreet interior. A touching work full of sensitivity signed and dedicated to "Monsieur L.Prétet" lower right. Pupil of Magaud in Marseille, then of Cabanel, Bonnat and Saintpierre in Paris, he exhibited very assiduously at the Salon of French Artists from 1885 to 1934: "In a cellar and happy mother (1903)", "Chant pour les prix (1905)", "Little problem (1909)", "The Little reader (1910)", "Mgr Gibier (1928)", "Mgr Gosselin (1933)", "Pleasure port", "Provence
