Description

Saint Sebastian Lombard school. Renaissance alabaster. Large Saint Sebastian finely carved in alabaster. The saint is attached to a column surmounted by a capital, beautiful soft features and superb hair with long openwork and wavy locks. This statue has been the subject of devotion as evidenced by the wear of the face and the accident to the nose. This beautiful sculpture comes from the collection of Professor Xénia Muratova, Doctor of Letters, Professor Emeritus in the History of Medieval Art.
