Description

Ivana Srámková is a contemporary post-war Czech sculptor, known for her character creations, presenting both her subjects in a very simple way to bring out their essence, and in a way that is archetypal enough so that they are identifiable by all.

In addition to her famous series of glass sculptures on birds or her indigenous and ancient inspirations, she has also produced a small number of sculptures dedicated to the vegetable kingdom.

This glass sculpture with shades of green similar to a shoot of grass is one of them.

Height: about 38cm
