Description

Interesting pair of candlesticks. On a round base, decorated on the outer border with acanthus leaves and on the inner border with a smaller garland of leaves, with the shaft in the centre. At its base, in high relief, three sets of four claws support the octagonal, flared shaft. Rows of leaves and rows of pearl in the upper part towards a spherical candle holder, cut at the top to receive the candle. Probable absence of "bobeche".

Good general condition, presented in their condition of buying on a flea market in the south of France.

No break or flaw, probable absence of bobeche, and one shows traces of silvering. Both will need to be cleaned.

European working, probably French, dating from the first part of the 19th century, Circa 1830.
