Description

The Infant St John the Baptist,

A first half of 17th c. Sevillian School

Cercle of Juan de Mesa Velasco (Córdoba, 1583 - Séville, 1627)

Polychrome and carved wood

Height: 65 cm

This charming, intricately carved polychrome wooden statue finds its inspiration in the model of the Blessed Infant Jesus created by the early seventeenth-century Sevillian sculptor Juan de Mesa Velasco.

Standing, leaning on his left leg, in contrapposto, the chubby-bodied Saint John the Baptist displays a voluminous hairstyle with curly hair and a tuft on the top of his head.

The positions of the arms indicate that he had in
