Description

Pair of candle holder angels of exceptional beauty and rarity. The polychrome lacquers and the gold leaf decoration are still very present, despite the age and are all original, in fact these objects have never been restored and therefore require conservative restoration.

The artistic sphere of these two angels is the purely Umbrian one between the end of the 15th century and the first quarter of the 16th century.

The height of the sculptures is 63 cm.

Their conditions sound good, because they have not been reworked, but they require conservative restoration in order to stabilize the more precarious elements such as the gold leaf patina.
