Description

Large gilded bronze pendulum of exceptional quality, probably a work of the famous Parisian bronzier Ravrio (André-Antoine Ravrio 1759 - 1814), he was one of the greatest bronziers in France.

This extraordinary clock; a model that I have never seen in my career is in untouched condition.

Superior quality in terms of chiseling and gilding, small note: on the white enameled dial there are a few small chips and someone tried to erase the signature. (partially).

Very nice mouvement with day indication.

The mechanism must be cleaned by a watchmaker.

A French work from the end of the 18th century - beginning of the 19th century
