functional flexibility, in fact there is the possibility of adjusting the nine movable elements of its modules to be able to sit or lay down. The various components of the seat, inspired by airplane wing flaps, can assume up to six positions.

The Flap has a steel frame, brushed and chrome-plated metal base, polyurethane padding, and has been totally assembled by hand. The choice of fabrics is anything but random; each product was designed and upholstered according to tactile and technological characteristics, conceiving what materials are useful for each model.
