

Large Murano Chandelier,

Description

Very beautiful Murano chandelier, Rezzonico style, after a model by Briati. This very colorful chandelier was made at the beginning of the 20th century with the same know-how as the master glassmakers of the time. The iron arms are covered with glass elements which form the arm, so-called rezzonico style like the famous chandelier at the Palazzo della Dogana in Venice. The assembly and design is based on the ancestral form invented by Briati. There is a great variety of colors in the flowers but in the arms and dome we detect a dominance of red and green. Abundance of leaves, flowers, towers, pendant ornaments and 20 arms of lights on three levels, this model is a joy for the viewer and a celebration for the house. Clean, rewired, harmonized and ready for use.
