Description

SADLER Fernande 1869-1949

French artist, painter and historian

She began her studies at the Académie Julian, one of the great art academies in Paris. From 1894, she regularly presented paintings at the Paris Salon and miniatures at the Nancy Salon . In 1904 she moved to Grez-sur-Loing, a town well known to artists in Ile de France. There she painted landscapes of the region and genre scenes. She has a great interest in art history. She will then begin to collect artists from the region and write about them. In 1909, she was also rewarded for this book.
