exhibitions of the time, notably the Paris exhibitions of 1884, 1885 and 1889.

There are a number of references to "Alix" in the archives of the famous furniture manufacturer François Linke. The references date after Alix's death in 1906 and indicate that Linke purchased a number of Alix's wooden models and marquetry designs.

A selection of Alix's wooden templates survives in the Linke archives.
