Description

François-Maurice Roganeau (1883-1973): "Water chore in Subiaco", oil on panel 22 x 23 cm, mounted in a beautiful original Parnassian frame 40 x 41 cm, signed and located. If the Bordeaux native Roganeau (First Grand Prix de Rome 1906, all the same!) excelled in large compositions (he redid the ceiling of the Grand Théâtre de Bordeaux), he is much more sought after today for his numerous animated scenes in the country Basque and Spain, extremely accurate and composed, almost ethnographic reports which fixed for the future a world often already disappeared... Here, a young woman in traditional dress descends the long stairs of this town near Rome to fetch water at the fountain.
