Description

Beautiful wall precision clock, the sober mahogany chest 148 centimeters high with a precision clock.

This clock; dating from around 1840 measures time with great precision.

Typical of this clock is the pendulum, which has minimal movement.

The weight that descends on the side in the chest is light, while the pendulum is heavy.

The clock has no chime, which is common with this type of clock.

The white enamel dial signed Villy is provided with two Brequet hands as well as a hand for the seconds.

This clock has a duration of one week.

To be revised.
