Description

Large enamelled vase with cracked beige background, covered on almost the entire surface with armed warrior figures fighting on foot with standards and shields, dignitaries and samurai on horseback, enamelled in predominantly green polychrome. The neck of the vase is decorated in relief with stylised fantastic animals. The bottom of the vase is signed in hollow with a point in a brown cartouche. Is from the imperial period of the Qing dynasty which reigned from 1636 to 1912. Despite a production in several sizes of this type of vase, it can be noted that they all have different and unique decorations with multiple characters with detailed polychrome enameling, in animated scenes, often battles, of great graphic quality (this model is particularly dense in characters on the entire surface of the vase.
