Description

PAIR OF "DECOY DUCKS" | Early 20th Century These decoy ducks, made of hand-carved and hand-painted wood, are authentic pieces from the early 20th century. Each duck has an aged polychrome finish, testifying to their age and use. Once used for duck hunting, they faithfully reproduce the shapes and colors of their living counterparts, with particular attention to detail. The natural wear visible on the paint adds to their character a unique charm, making them objects as decorative as they are functional.
