traversed the centuries, adorning the walls of a manor in the Loire Valley, a region emblematic of French nobility. Commissioned by an influential notary to mark the elegance of his main salon, this mirror has been witness to numerous refined conversations, lively soirées illuminated by candlelight, and the reflections of sumptuous gowns.

Adorned with a carved ribbon knot, an emblem of the Louis XVI style, this mirror combines symmetry and finesse. Its original gilded patina, subtle and warm, attests to its authenticity and the history it has endured.

The owners have carefully preserved this mirror, and it is now ready to be incorporated into your décor. Finding such a rare piece, with such a rich history and remarkable level of preservation, is a unique opportunity.

This mirror, of rare elegance, will perfectly complement a fireplace, a refined living room, a majestic entrance, or a bedroom. Its aura of authenticity and timeless style will make it a central element in any interior, whether modern or classic. Don't miss the chance to add this work of art to your collection.
