the Universal Exhibition of 1900.

He mainly practiced genre painting, historical painting, and portraiture - at the end of his career, more rarely landscape and Symbolist painting.

In 1888, he received a travel grant, which he used to make his grand tour of Italy to study the great masters of the Renaissance.

Sinibaldi also faced the grand decor by participating in the construction sites of the Hôtel de Ville de Paris and the town hall of Lille (destroyed in 1916) as well as the decoration of the castle of Neuville-sur-Ain, to which he had access on recommendation. of his father-in-law: the departmental architect Tony Ferret.

Sinibaldi was made a Knight of the Legion of Honor in 1900.

The artist died on January 17, 1909, in Bourg-en-Bresse. Its studio fund was sold at a public sale on May 17, 1909, at the Hôtel Drouot.
