Description

Oil on canvas signed lower right Léon Canniccioni, dated 1935 and located but illegible, possibly Mehrez in Tunis, depicting a square lined with arcades behind which rises a minaret, bustling with a large concentration of people as well as dromedaries and mules. In the foreground, a group of men seated on the ground next to their reclining dromedaries form a talking circle around what appears to be a large carpet. Original stretcher and canvas in excellent condition.

Canvas dimensions 54x65 cm

Montparnasse frame in carved wood, 63.5x74 cm
