Description

This bracelet, in solid silver, has a central motif, circular in shape and set with an old-cut diamond surrounded on the edge by six small sparkling chips. It is made up of elements articulated together in the shape of leaves joined two by two and also decorated with diamond chips. The clasp is accompanied by a small safety that locks the whole thing. Two hallmarks appear on the clasp but they are difficult to read, we thought it could be a mercury head but without any certainty. Good condition. Late 19th century. Gross weight 31 grams. Length 20.5 cm.
