richness: primary colors (red, yellow and blue) dominate, mixed with green and ochre hues. The repetitive patterns, punctuated by arrows and dots, provide a visual rhythm that contrasts with the simplified yet expressive forms of the figures and the dog. The tiled arrangement is reminiscent of mosaics or textile patterns, providing a unique visual depth.

The contrast between the rigorous geometry of the background and the organic contours of the figures creates an intriguing duality, demonstrating Millán's technical mastery. This carefully balanced scenography draws attention while encouraging a slow and detailed exploration of the composition.
