Description

Pair of polished brass ewers decorated with lambrequins and acanthus scrolls on trays. The top of the ewer is decorated with a mask below which a first frieze of eggs surmounts on the body a second space centered with a chiseled cartouche; on the lower part of the body there is a decoration of lambrequins on an amati background. The ewers are mounted on a pedestal with a gadrooned ring. Early 19th century Usual restorations H. 28.5 x L. 26 cm
