Description

Jean-Baptiste Carpeaux (1827-1875) was one of the French sculptors of the 19th century, with dynamic expression, dramatic movements and refined details. He worked under Emperor Napoleon III and created some of the most iconic sculptures of the era, such as "La Danse" on the facade of the Opéra Garnier in Paris. Carpeaux's signature style includes: ? Strong dynamism - fluid movement and real expression ? Intricate details - and private features of facial features and drapery ? Real anatomy - influence of Renaissance masters like Michelangelo "Contact us for prices" The inscription on the plaque reads: "La Maison JOHN R. BEST & C° AND ITS STAFF TO M. ANTOINE NOEST 1894 - 1919"
