History & Provenance:

The 'Perugia' pattern was originally created by Gio Ponti in 1929 and reissued in the 1970s during a resurgence of retro Art Deco styles

Richard Ginori, founded in 1735 by Marquis Carlo Ginori in Doccia, near Florence, has long been synonymous with high-quality porcelain

The company has produced luxury porcelain for royal courts, aristocrats, and distinguished clients worldwide

Acquired by Gucci in 2013 and rebranded as "Ginori 1735," it continues to blend centuries-old traditions with modern design
