Description

The painting depicts a composition that evokes the days of Easter. At the center of the scene, a large sweet such as Panpasquale stands out. Next to the donut, there are several bottles including a Moscato. There are also confetti and an olive branch descends from above. The composition is arranged on a white lace tablecloth, which emphasizes the elegance sought for the holidays. Painted with soft colors and nuanced tones, the brush stroke is soft and creates an intimate and sunny atmosphere. The atmosphere of hearth and family also makes it an interesting testimony to the taste and traditions of the past. Good state of conservation with minimal defects present. Canvas size 60x75 cm, external size (frame early 20th century) 75x90 cm
