Description

Guaranteed to have survived numerous storms, even strandings, not too violent because the glass bottles are intact, as are the skin bottle closures.

Guaranteed that the captain had a Breton-sounding name and that if he wasn't born there, it sounded good when he was hailed. This Bosco pharmacy clearly bears the traces of its use. It has lost its lid but its composite contents have not capsized. The expiration dates are well past, please keep out of reach of children.
