Description

Beautiful small portrait (33cm x 25cm) old painting on old relined or transposed canvas, of King Henry IV full-length, wearing half-cuirass, helmet and gauntlets removed, *it is possibly a study for a court portrait, attributable to or in entourage of François II Bunel, (who was his official portraitist). See on the 2016 Gazette portrait the disturbing resemblances, same cuirass, same face at the same period, reversed movements, same hands, etc. (last photo). As we are in no way experts in historical painting, but discoverers, our price and our commitment will be those of a 19th century portrait, make your own opinion with the help of our candid photos.
