Description

Elegance and Authenticity from the 19th Century
This exquisite Louis-Philippe commode, crafted in walnut burl, perfectly embodies the excellence of 19th-century furniture. The noble wood, with its warm tones and delicately undulating grain, gives this piece a refined and timeless presence. Its original Sainte-Anne black marble top stands out with its elegant gray nuances and refined white veining. Its molded adoucine profile and beveled edges enhance its sophistication. The delicate polish of the marble subtly reflects light, harmonizing beautifully with the silky patina of the walnut.
Refined Details and Exceptional Craftsmanship
Keyhole escutcheons in finely chiseled iron, showcasing the craftsmanship of 19th-century cabinetmakers. Traditional mortise and tenon
