Description

Extendable table made around 1950 by André Sornay, a French designer and cabinetmaker known for his modern creations, combining quality materials and a refined aesthetic. This table features simple, balanced lines, with straight-shanked legs that give it a sober look. The contrast between the mahogany frame and the golden ash top adds a warm touch. Practical and functional, it is equipped with two 30 cm extensions, allowing for easy size adjustment. Total width when extended: 205 cm. The top has slight veneer chips. Manufacturer: Sornay Meubles, France, circa 1950.
