

Statuette Representing A Wooden Falcon

Description

It is painted with black marks on the plumage of the back as well as the head and the tail. Traces of light, red and whitish colors appear in places. The eyes are marked with a big red dot. Egypt, Low Period. The color is absent in places, mainly on the back and wings and is replaced in some places by light repaints that seem old. The state of conservation is altered by time, but remains satisfactory. H_12 cm. L_21 cm. Personal collection for 30 years.
