Description

Very nice little Egault level made in Paris around 1900 by the Henri Morin house. Besides its small size, it has the particularity of being entirely nickel-plated.

Characteristics: Egault level with plate, spring return screw and soft stop clamp which also acts as a brake, 24 cm ratchet-focused refractor, X 15 magnification, level with grinding screw, ground and split vial, center in bronze crossing the column, triangular base with three setting screws. Oak box with hooks. Excellent condition. Well protected by the box which is wormy and rusty but still solid. Complete with its lens hood, lens cap, adjustment key and screwdriver. Lenses in good condition, dismantable.
