Description

A beautiful pair of silvered bronze candlesticks from the Regency period, featuring an elegant triangular design adorned with intricate details. Each candlestick is decorated with refined Saint-Jacques shell motifs, a classic symbol of the era, and is fully engraved with floral patterns, showcasing the exquisite craftsmanship of the period. The original drip pans add authenticity to these exceptional pieces.

Regency-style candlesticks, with their sophisticated ornamentation, were essential elements in the aristocratic interiors of the early 18th century, reflecting a taste for symmetry and intricate designs. These items, both functional and decorative, represent a valuable testimony to the French art of living.
