Description

Small cylinder desk in mahogany and brass nets, surmounted by a showcase opening with two doors. It is wearing a white Carrara marble decorated with an openwork brass gallery. It rests on 4 feet sheath with clogs. The opening of the cylinder reveals a sliding tray covered with leather (not changed) and three drawers in alignment. Three additional fictitious drawers when you open the zipper. The desk also has two drawers under the cylinder that close. Period early nineteenth, Louis XVI style.
