underlined with a double thread, decoration that we find on the bouterolles. The base of the fork's stem is underlined with a baluster decoration.

- We find several cutlery of this type as well in Holland as in England listed in the literature and in prestigious collections. This one from the Jacques Hollander collection is comparable to another cover photographed in his book [2, n ° 161] or those in Historische Bestecke [1, n ° 316 & 319].
