Description

Carrara marble statue representing a chilly lady who walks signed Charles Delanglade Born in Marseille on May 26, 1870 and died in 1952 From a family of notaries, son of Marseille notables, Charles Delanglade is the brother of Édouard Delanglade¹. He entered the School of Fine Arts in Marseille where he was a pupil of Émile Aldebert. He was then admitted to the Beaux-Arts in Paris where he was a pupil of Jules Cavelier and then of Louis-Ernest Barrias. He finished his training by traveling through Italy: Verona, Florence, Padua, Venice and Rome. He exhibited little at the Salon des artistes français, where he obtained an honorable mention in 1910² for a marble sculpture entitled Vers la vie³. He was admitted to the Academy of Marseille, succeeding Jules Cantini, and delivered his
